The Deadline for Application for the ECFT-RSM Masters in Financial Management will expire soon!

Due to tremendous interest and due to the amount of applications we had decided to extend the initial deadline for the Masters in Financial Management programme.

At MFM, financial management is taught through combining theory and practice – giving ambitious students the proper tools for financial decision-making, from a managerial perspective. The MFM recipe consists of highly interactive courses, workshops, and guest lectures by top financial specialists; this aids in the effective identification, analysis, and resolution of finance-related issues faced by corporate firms and financial institutions.

This year's class will once again consist of professionals from various regions from all over the world. With different backgrounds, but a common interest in financial management, they will not only gain new knowledge and skills, but they will also gain an exciting and insightful experience.

The final deadline for the 2008-2009 class will expire on July 15!
We urge everyone to apply as soon as possible. If you have any questions, or need help with the application, please do not hesitate to contact us at admissions@ecft.nl or recruitment@ecft.nl

We are looking forward to hear from you soon!
